

Abstract

A server side data tracking system adapted to track data packets at a server. The data packets adapted to store Internet surfing data by an end user.